INDIANAPOLIS WINS AGAIN

They Ontplay the Detroits at All Points and Score a Brilliant Victory.

Manager Spence Is Elated, While the Detroit Managers Are Depressed-Results of Other League and Association Games.

special to the Indianapolis Journal DETROIT, Mich., July 31 .- The champions were listless to-day, and the Hoosiers full of tash and vigor. They out-played the local nine at every point, and their second victory has shilled the hearts of the Detroit directors, who last week thought the championship was again in their hands. The visitors, to-night, are the lions of the town, and their hotel is crowded by persons anxious to get a look at the men who play such good ball. Manager Spence is pleased as a boy in pants for the first time.

The Hoosiers commenced the run-getting in the fourth. Denny sent a double to left, and Hines drove him in with another; Glasscock got first on a fielder's error, but White muffed Brouthers's throw, and Hines was safe at third; he stole home when Ganzel was otherwise engaged. Bassett went out at first, and Esterbrook made a single to right, and scored on Brouthers's wild throw to catch him at second. After getting to first on a fielder's error, Mc-Geachy was caught stealing second; Daily tipped out. Another run was made in the visitors' of the seventh; McGeachy hit one to Conway, and was out at first. Hanlon missed Daily's hit and the runner went to third; Healy tipped out, and Seery got to first on Laroque's fumble of his grounder, Daily scoring on the same error. Then Denny struck out. The game was won in the eleventh. Glasscock hit to center and went to second on a passed ball; Bassett went out from Rowe to Brouthers; Esterbrook flied out to Brouthers; McGeachy put a single to center, which bounded over Hanlon's head, and both runners scored. Daily went out from Conway to Brouthers, and the Detroits were blanked in their half of the sleventh. Denny had a finger split by a liner from White's bat, in the seventh, and will be disabled for a week. Score

A Famous Masonic Poet and a Millionaire Join the Great Majority.

LOUISVILLE, July 31 .- Dr. Robert Morris died this morning at 2:30 o'clock, at his home at Lagrange. Death was caused by paralysis. Dr. Morris was seventy years old and a native of Mississippi, though he had hved here nearly all his life. He was the poet laureate of Masonry and the most distinguished Mason in America or the world. He was a past grand master. and the author of nearly a hundred Masonic works and poems. In 1884 he was sent to the Holy Land by the Masons to explore its origin. and spent eighteen months there. He was a Presbyterian minister, but of late years has devoted himself to exclusive Masonic work. He was married, and leaves several children.

New York, July 31 .- Christopher Meyer, a millionaire, died at his residence on Fifth avenue this afternoon at 1 o'clock. He was born in Hanover, Germany, in 1818, and came to this country when fifteen years old. For many years he has been the foremost man in the rubberfabric business of this country. He was lately brought into prominence by his connection with the raid of Ives upon the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad.

Frank Mott Deserts His Family. CINCINNATI, July 31 .- On . last Saturday morning, as Frank Mott left his house, he shocked his wife by telling her good-bye, that she would probably not see him again, and that if she needed money to go to the building association. He gave no other explanation, and left. He has not been seen or heard from by his friends since. He has been confidential book-keeper for the firm of Daniel Stone & Co. for years. On his deak was a note saying that if his books were wrong his father would make up the deficiency. It is not known that he is a defaulter. There has been nothing to indicate it, and the cause of his absconding is a mystery. He leaves an interesting family.

A Natural-Gas Plum-Indianapolis is getting a boom as headquar ters for natural-gas supplies. Within the past week the well-known firm of J. B. McElwaine & Co. have received contracts to furnish to Winchester and Kempton entire outfits of their goods, including all fittings, regulating and reducing stations, etc. This firm, it will be remembered, received the contract-the largest ever awarded in the West, and over the greatest competition—to supply the entire fittings for the low-pressure system of the Consumers' Trust of this city. They have just been awarded a similar contract for the city of Peru, to furnish fittimes complete for the natural-gas plant of that city. THE CHESS-PLAYERS.

Meeting of the State Association at Greencastle-Esults of Yesterday's Playing.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. GREENCASTLE, Ind., July 31 .- The leading representatives of the Indiana State Chess Association are gathered here to-day to hold their tournament to decide who shall represent them at the coming national tourney, under the auspices of the United States Chess Association. The meeting is being held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, which is as cool, breezy and comfortable as this hot weather will permit. Dr. T. F. Leech, as announced in to-day's Journal, having met with a severe accident by being thrown from a carriage by a runaway team, of course is not present. His record as a player is first-class, and many thought he might have been "Indiana's chosen son" in the chess arena. C. D. Thompson, late of Indianapolis, who died so suddenly last week, was one of the best rapid players. His absence will make quite a change in guesses as to the probable winner.

The meeting at 2 P. M. was called to order by the president, James B. Mulky, of Bloomington, and the following were present: Prof. Lewis, Emanuel Marquis, H. C. Johnson, Prof. Swal-ing, George E. Blake, W. H. Ripley, Pressly Guyman, Ewald Over, G. G. Tague, Henry C. Brown, J. M. Tomlinson, Milroy Gordon, Prof. W. F. Teister, T. C. Grooms, W. L. Epperson, J. Allen, M. M. Bachelder.

There are two classes of players-the major and minor. The championship is to be decided arong those in the former class, composed of M. or Mulky, Emanuel Marquis, W. H. Riples, H. C. Brown, J. M. Tomlinson, George E. Bike, P. Guyman, Ewald Over, Emanuel Marquis, jr.

The following rules were adopted: Playing to be governed by American chess code as in Cook's synopsis. Each player shall play two games with the others in his respective class. Time, when called, shall be limited to four minutes to the move. In addition to the prizes offered by the association the citizens have offered to the first prizewinner in the major class an elegant gold-headed cane, the second prize-winner a complete shaving set, and a gold-handled silk umbrella to the first winner in minor class. The score at 11 o'clock was as follows: Major Class-Brown won one and drew one with Over; Tomlinson won two of Ripley; Guy-man lost two with Marquis; Mulkey won one and lost one with Prof. Lewis. Minor Class-Johnson won two with Blake. two with Gordon; won one and lost one with Marquis, jr., and won one and lost one with Tague; Tague won two with Gordon; Batchelor won two with Hammond, won one and lost one with Tiester, and lost one with Blake; Blake won two with Hammond and two with Tiester; Marquis, jr., won one and lost one with Tiester.

INDIANA IRISHMEN FOR HARRISON. The Republican Standard-Bearer Friendly to the Irish Cause -- Morton's Gift. Indianapolis Special in New York Tribune. The Republican leaders in Indiana have been given the assurance that many Irish-Americans who have heretofore voted with the Democratic party will support Harrison and Morton, and they feel confident that the accession of strength from that source will be large enough materially to affect the election. Roger R. Shiel, prominent as a Republican Irishman, who was a caudidate for Treasurer of State, four years ago, when asked if Harrison would receive more Irish votes than were given Blaine, replied:

"My opinion is that Harrison will receive a much larger support than Blaine did in 1884.
He is popular in this State with the Irish and will get, in my opinion, two Irish votes where Blaine got one. He has attended a number of Irish meetings and has made speeches in behalf of Ireland which have drawn the Irish to him. This year the issues between the two parties are much more thoroughly defined than they were in 1884. Any Irishman who seeks information can readily see that his vote cast with the Democratic party would be a vote in favor of the English free-trade ideas and would be lending his aid and influence to promote the English government as against American protection ideas, and certainly would be aiding England in her oppression of Ireland. There are a large number of rish-Americans, especially young men, who have given the issues between the two parties this year considerable thought, and in my opinion will cast their vote with the party that has always opposed oppression of all kinds and favored the elevation of the oppressed. There is one class of Irishmen that will support the Democratic party, the class that holds office under the party or expects to get office; but the Irishman who has the interest of America and the interest of Ireland at heart will certainly cast his vote with the Republican party. "I recognize the fact that it is no easy thing for an Irishman who has been identified for years with the Democratic party to leave that party unless he gives the matter considerable thought. He will then understand that the issues between the two parties this year make it almost impossible for an Irishman who has the true love for Ireland and America, his adopted country, to vote the Democratic ticket. In my opinion the Irishman who votes the Democratic ticket has more regard for the Democratic party than he has for Ireland.

"I have not talked to an Irishman for some time who does not admit the fact that Cleveland is unfriendly to the Irish people and that Secretary Bayard is probably the best friend England has in America and the worst enemy that Ireland has. A number of Irishmen who beretofore have ranked high in the Democratic party have expressed themselves in favor of voting for Harrison and the entire Republican ticket this year; and I do not know of an Irishman in Indiana that voted for Blaine who is not to-day outspoken for Harrison. There are other Irish papers in America to-day supporting Harrison than sup ported Blaine in 1884, among them The Irish World, The Chicago Citizen, The American Celt, of St. Louis, and in fact almost every Irish paper in America; and I see that the Dublin Freeman's Journal and a number of papers in Ireland have spoken favorably of the Republican nominee and platform and unfavorably of the Democratic nominee and platform, which will, in my opinion, be of great influence with the Irishmen who wish to vote with the party that will promote the interests of Irishmen in America, and which sympathizes with oppressed Ireland and bates the English oppression."

"How does Morton stand with the Irish?" "There is no man in America, in my judgment, who could have been nominated who stands better than Morton. Our people here all understand that in 1877, when Ireland was suffering from a famine, Morton was one of the largest contributors to render them assistance. Colonel Thompson, ex-Secretary of the Navy, a few days ago said to me that Morton contributed about one-third of a ship of supplies to send to Ireland, and asked him not to make the matter public. This shows that he contributed because his heart was with the country in its time of need. In my opinion the ticket could not have been made stronger. and before the election it will be fully demonstrated that Harrison and Morton are equally as good friends of the Irish and the Irish cause as Blaine could be, and that they will receive every Irish vote that Blaine would have received. I don't think there is any doubt but that Harrison and Morton will be elected, and will carry a solid North, and possibly two or three Southern States. There is no question but that Harrison will carry Indiana by a larger majority than has been given any party in twenty years, in this State. I believe Indiana this year will go out of the list of doubtful States, and be hereafter regarded as one of the solid Republican States."

"Trusts" and "Combines" in England.

Age of Steel. The attention of American free-traders who are never weary of telling us that the policy of protection is responsible for combinations, trusts, etc., is called to the following paragraph from the last issue of the London Iron and Steel Trades Journal: "The practice of combination to maintain prices in certain branches of the English iron trade is extending. In the Birmingham district the makers of carriage, cart and wagon axles recently united for the purpose of establishing an advance of 20 per cent., and so far the alliance has succeeded in upholding the higher rates. We now learn that the manufacturers of sheet iron in the same district have joined together to prevent free competition. More than twenty firms have shared in the effort, and the four or five which declined to combine are aiding the "ring" by keeping their quotations at the same point as those fixed by the combination. The latter have agreed to revise the rates every three months, subject to any alteration in the intervals which may be agreed upon, the members of the union pledging themselves to abide by the decision of the majority. No penalties are exacted for breach of the engagement, but the manufacturers have for some time past suffered so severely from keen competition that there is every prospect of the union being main-tained for a time."

No Lack of Good Candidates. Chicago Mail.

Ex-Governor Porter, of Indiana, has positively declined to make the race for Governor this year. This is to be regretted, for he would make an excellent candidate. However, there is no lack of candidates. Either Robertson or General Wallace would make a strong race. It will be an honor for a Hoosier to run for Governor the same year that the grandson of Tippecanoe is elected President.

The Acton Assembly. The Acton Assembly course begins this even-

It has been announced that Sam Small will positively be present next Sunday. In the absence of Dr. Ford, Mr. Reuben Daily, of the Jeffersonville News, who was recentiv converted from infidelity to Christianity. will lecture this evening. His theme will be, "Twenty-one Years in Infidelity."

Fight About a Dog. Henry Genbry (colored) and Lewis Williams were arrested last night on the charge of assault and battery. They had met in the early part of the evening on the corner of West and Washington streets, and had become involved in a dispute over the alleged mistreatment of Williams's dog, finally coming to blows. Genbry attempted to bite Williams on his right arm, and raised a serious flesh wound, while Williams returned the compliment by using his teeth on his antagonist's ear, ridding it of considerable of its fleshier portions. Both parties fought until they were bespattered with blood. They were

It will be a shock to the many friends of Rev. Dr. Marine, in this city and State, to know that he has been stricken with something like paralysis of the brain, and now lies in a very precarious condition. The latest information from him is the following, contained in the Lincoln, Neb., News: "Very many people in Lincoln to-night will be pained to learn that the condition of Dr. Marine is no better. His physician states that his condition remains as yesterday-very critical, and that while the hopes of recovery are few, if fortune should turn his way he will be unable to minister to his people for a number of months at best. The people of his church have learned to love Dr. Marine. In the Christian work and the work of his pastorate in this city he has been untiring. To the zeal devoted to his work can be attributed much of the cause of his illness." Dr. Marine was one of the ablest and most popular preachers who ever ministered in Indianapolis. Not only in this city was he known and appreciated, but throughout the State and beyond its borders he was recognized as among the foremost pulpit orators of the Running Down Cattle-Thieves.

The farmers in the northern part of the county have been annoyed of late by a band of cattle; thieves, whose depredations have been committed as far down as Washington township. Their operations have been carried on entirely in the night, and as yet no clew has been discovered as to their whereabouts. The Wabash Detective Association has been active in its endeavors to trace the cases that have lately occurred in that vicinity, and have at last succeeded in making a capture. Less than a week ago five head of cattle were taken from the stable of Ezra Hamilton, living in Lawrence, and a quiet but effective search was made. Yesterday two of the cows were found in the possession of one Stephen Perry, a resident of Mooreland. He was at once placed under arrest, and confessed that he had shipped the remaining three to Buffalo. It is thought that this may furnish some clew to the various thefts committed in the last few weeks, as it is supposed that Perry belongs to a gang who are working the neighbor-
